24. In order to make this course better for students in the future, please describe the most positive aspect(s) of this course.

[1772]

Student 4: Learning how to develop a grant from a question

Student 3: This class was excellent and I cannot think of a single item that would make it better!

Student 2: 1. Easy access to the instructor, eg GWmail, twitter, cell phone, etc. 2. Very prompt electronic response from the instructor. 3. Very honest and respectful critique without patronizing. 4. Willingness to continuously offer to be the mentor to students both academically and professionally despite the course completion. This is a rarity as the instructor truly cares about the students' intellectual development. 5. Last but not least - the "small class size" enables me to really take the time to read ALL other students' proposals and feel like being in a community of student researchers. Less students also translate to more quality time for the instructor to provide well-thought critique.

Student 1: The most positive aspect of the course is the instructor- Dr. Acquaviva possesses incredible knowledge and experience of grantwriting and she has an incredible ability to motivate students. She provides helpful feedback and direction and her enthusiasm for the subject and for teaching students is exceptional. She is an amazing instructor/ mentor !

25. The aspect(s) of the course that need the greatest improvement is/are:

Student 4: It would be nice to have a video of the instructor each week.

Student 1: my observation was that students who had already completed the research proposal course and/or had experience in research or grant writing were more engaged in the course and more easily able to meet the course expectations. I wondered if the research proposal course should be a prerequisite for taking this course - just a thought ~
